

The 2017 IABS Doctoral Writing Camp and Consortium

June 26-28, 2017

Amsterdam, The Netherlands

IABS' distinguishing feature is that we aim at bringing emerging scholars and established thought leaders in the field together. Following this spirit, we offer a unique doctoral consortium which combines an intensive writing camp, mentorship, and networking.

During the three day Writing Camp doctoral students will have time focus on their research and write while meeting their mentor in the morning and evening to discuss their goals and open questions. During the Doctoral Consortium mid-day plenary sessions we'll invite thought leaders and top scholars in the field to share their experiences regarding networking, publishing, the job market and developing an academic career.

The 2017 Doctoral Consortium will be held just prior to the start of the IABS Conference in Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

The Doctoral Consortium is intended for research students who are in the middle of their PHD program and work on theses in the broad area of Business and Society. The purpose of the consortium is to (1) offer students a unique setting to focus and receive feedback on their writing (2) provide insights into the processes of conducting research and writing, (3) answer questions about academic careers, and (4) connect them with top scholars in the field. The consortium gives doctoral students the opportunity to discuss their research, learn about business and society research more broadly and get insights on how to develop a successful academic career.

For the 2017 Doctoral Consortium, we have a distinguished group of business and society scholars lined up to share their experiences and insights. Participation in the Doctoral Consortium is limited; interested students should apply by submitting the following:

- A statement of interest (1 page)
- A research proposal or work-in-progress statement of no more than 2 pages (double-spaced, A4 paper), including title, background, research question and proposed methodology
- A current curriculum vitae (2 pages maximum)
